Dear Admissions Committee,

REF: RECOMMENDATION FOR TITO YAK KUOL, ADMISSION NUMBER 10308

It is always a pleasure to state the meaningful contributions and impacts that Tito Yak made in our school and the surrounding community. It is a true pleasure to recommend him to your school. I had the privilege of teaching him Computer Studies in his first two years in high school and coached him in basketball for four years. It is always difficult to miss his presence in school because of his intellectual superiority and towering height, but it is delighting to see him progressing to the next level.

Tito has constantly proven beyond reasonable doubts to be ardent, conscientious, intellectually gifted. In 2011, Tito caught the eyes of the whole nation by emerging the fourth best student nationally, as a result, he earned himself a place in Alliance High School, the top national school for boys. This feat was well covered by both the print and electronic media houses in the country. He has never disappointed since joining us despite the scrutiny and attention from the rest of the school. He took this precious opportunity whole heartedly with insatiable zest and zeal to grow academically and socially. Tito is a careful, creative thinker with an eye for details and devotion to logics which serves him well both in and outside his class. I enjoyed teaching him.

One thing I like most about Tito is how he surmounted all odds and obstacles in his academic journey. Though he comes from South Sudan, a war torn country, he has never lost focus of achieving academic excellence. He is from a broken past but hardly can anyone tell his status as his jovial mood and amicability camouflage his hardships and challenges. Tito's personal strengths are as impressive as his intellectual accomplishments. He is an active, outgoing, curious, and engaging student who helped light up our classroom for learning and lively discussions. He often portrays maturity in how he keeps group discussions rolling as a team leader and respect for others' opinions. His cheerful nature and openness to criticism mean he is always learning from others and his rare mistakes, and growing as a learner, a coveted attribute that will serve him well in college and beyond.

Tito demonstrated his leadership in the responsibilities accorded to him as a class monitor, basketball team captain, and dormitory captain. He did his onus tasks with diligence and was constantly acknowledged by both the teachers and his peers for his altruistic and commendable service. His humility and concern for others, especially the less fortunate, is commendable. It was not surprising when the students elected him as secretary of Students' Social Welfare Society. He would voluntarily collect contributions, both personal items and cash, from the students at the beginning of every term, and distribute them among the needy students according to their needs. Tito devised a business venture for Social Welfare Society to fund their own activities. He forged an agreement with the kitchen staff to be preparing burgers, cheese sandwiches, and fruit juices, and he appointed a few of his colleagues to be selling them to the students. Together, they would use the net profit to buy some items for children's home in the neighbour at the end of the term. Surely, Tito proves

Without any reservation, Tito has my highest recommendation for admission to your prestigious school. He has always demonstrated excellence in what he puts his mind in: whether it is formulating projects, leading others, or collaborating with his peers. With his endless curiosity and willingness to learn let me believe there will be no limit his growth and achievements in college and beyond. He has a great potential and intellectual capacity for growth. He will be a positive addition to your institution. I wish him all the best.

Yours faithfully,
